Professional Development Sessions

Date: February - March, 2026

Online Wednesday 4th March 1.00 - 2.00 pm	Vevox - Online This interactive workshop will showcase potential pedagogical uses for Vevox, such as student engagement and formative assessment. It will provide participants with an opportunity to create their own Vevox polls, including quizzes, word clouds, and anonymous Q&A. It will also demonstrate how to embed polls in PowerPoint. Register here	Dr Geraldine McDermott
Online Thursday 5th March 1.00 - 2.00 pm	Artificial Intelligence - Online This lightning-speed, practical overview introduces staff to Generative AI (GenAI) and what it means for teaching, assessment, and academic practice in higher education. The session demystifies how tools such as large language models work, what they can and cannot do, and why they matter now. The focus is on implications rather than hype: academic integrity, assessment design, student learning, staff workload, and professional judgement. The session highlights both risks and opportunities, including where GenAI can support learning and where human expertise remains essential. Designed for busy staff, the session is non-technical, policy-aware, and pedagogically grounded, with time built in for live Q&A to address immediate questions and concerns. Register here	Dr Denise Mac Giolla Ri
Online Monday 16th March 1.00 - 2.00 pm	Action Research for Educators - Online Action Research for Educators is a research methodology that equips educators with the skills to systematically investigate and improve their own professional practice. Through cycles of planning, acting, observing, and reflecting, educators learn how to identify challenges, gather and analyse data, test new strategies, and measure their impact on student learning. Register here	Dr Mike Russell
Online Wednesday 18th March 1.00 - 2.00 pm	Universal Design for Learning: Simply good teaching - Online This interactive workshop will focus on practical strategies to enhance student engagement. Discover how small, intentional shifts in your teaching can reduce the need for individual accommodations and improve student experience. Join us to explore how providing multiple ways for students to engage, perceive information, and express their learning can revitalise your module. Register here	Dr Catherine-Ann OConnell & Eimear Kelly
Online Thursday 19th March 1.00 - 2.00 pm	Intercultural Learning in the Classroom - Online This one-hour workshop explores how culture shapes classroom experiences, participation, and learning. Participants reflect on their own cultural assumptions and biases while developing practical strategies for inclusive communication, teaching, and responding to culturally sensitive situations. No prior AI knowledge required. Register here	Dr Matt Cannon
